The body is grounded in a deep black foundation, while the upper section cuts in with a vivid red shoulder block that instantly gives the shirt a stronger visual presence. Across the chest and upper back, a series of layered speed lines in red, white, and black creates a smooth directional flow that feels aerodynamic, modern, and table-ready. It has the energy of movement without ever feeling messy.

Performance is just as important as appearance, and EMPEROR is built to hold up where it matters. The classic fit keeps the shirt comfortable and easy to wear through long practice sessions, league nights, and tournament play. The premium fabric blend gives it a smooth performance feel, while Airflow technology helps maintain breathability when the room heats up. With mesh ventilation panels under both arms, this shirt stays focused on comfort, so the only thing left to manage is the rack in front of you.
